History:

Clear Creek Township is Interesting Area of Cooper County
by Mrs. A. J. Hayes, "Daily News Correspondent

"There are two cemeteries here connected with the St. Paul's United Church of Christ; formerly St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church of Christ; and before that, St. Paul's German Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The first cemetery, referred to as the "Old Cemetery" was a pioneer burying ground. No burial records were kept before 1866; but the cemetery is much older, as there are tombstones here bearing dates in the 1850's

In 1904, an acre of ground was bought from Phillip Meisenheimer for a new cemetery; adjoining the church property. A Cemetery Association was formed and the congregation is working toward Perpetual Care for the future. These cemeteries are well fenced and well cared for."

From Johnson's "History of Cooper County, Missouri": The old cemetery adjoined the churchyard on the south. There are more than thirty graves recorded in this plot and probably more without markers. A new cemetery was established across the road to the north.
