CARROLLTON AND BERRYVILLE MASONIC LODGES ORGANIZED IN CA. 1853

(By M. J. TIMM)

Blackburn Henderson Berry, first Worshipful Master Ashley Lodge No. 66 F. & A. M., also founder of Berryville.

Early in November, 1853, the members of a Masonic Lodge, located in Berryville, Arkansas, and operating under dispensation from the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Arkansas, prepared to ask for a Charter, apparently the lodge had been under dispensation for about a year. (A dispensation is a license granted to a newly organized lodge. Said lodge can accept members and operate under a probationary status until it becomes apparent that the new lodge will be capable of governing and supporting itself).

The Charter lists B. H. (Blackburn Henderson) Berry as Worshipful Master; A. A. Baker, Senior Warden; Isaac Plumlee, Junior Warden; L. E. Baker, Grand Master and T. D. Merrick, Grand Secretary.

Delegations from Berryville and Carrollton traveled to Little Rock together. It is claimed that lots were cast for numbers 63, 64, 65, and 66. However, in 1853 numbers 67 and 68 were issued. Since the Grand Lodge records are burned, there is more conjecture than proof. In any event Yell Lodge in Carrollton got number 64 and Ashley Lodge in Berryville got number 66.

The histories of Yell Lodge Number 64 and Ashley Lodge Number 66 are so closely related that it isn't easy to determine who belonged to which lodge at this late date. Many businessmen had interests in both towns.

Fragments show that A. A. Baker and B. H. Baker are often listed among the brothers present in minutes of both lodges.

Some early members of Ashley Lodge include such well remembered names as Sisco, Plumlee, Sneed, Poynor, Kenner, Fancher, Jones, Walker, Meeks, Sugg, Bunch, Bradley and Wann. In one early letter we find listed, B. F. Hailey, A. C. Walker, W. H. McKennon, J. J. Hargis, A. F. Fanning, E. Bobo, B. H. Berry, J. S. Shahan, J. M. Jones and Aaron A. Baker.

In 1866, there were active lodges at Crooked Creek (Harrison) and Bellefonte. A carefully handwritten Certificate of Good Standing, found in some lodge papers recommends a Percy Packwood, "who has relatives near Berryville, Carrollton and Bellefonte in Arkansas."

The fragmentary books of Ashley Lodge resume in 1867 after a wartime interruption. The divided loyalties of the members during the war between the states, the virtual destruction of Berryville and other obstacles were overcome.

The following new members were added in 1867: T. S. Pittman, George Walker, J. B. Baines, A. J. M. Anderson, and Shadrack Mooneyham.

Records for 1868 are missing, but in 1869 W. P. George joined the lodge and the names of W. A. Denney, A. M. Fanning, H. W. Feree and J. M. Hague appear in the records.

In 1870 several members of Ashley Lodge and some from Yell Lodge withdrew to organize Osage Lodge No. 219. Books err in locating Osage Lodge at Fairview, Arkansas (*).

The new lodge lists William Rudd, as Worshipful Master. Among the members are J. W., T. W. and J. P. Fancher, Amos G. Kendall and J. J. Morris.

In 1871 Ashley Lodge reported a membership of seventy-three. Only twenty-five are known. Officers were Den S. Hayten, Worshipful Master; J. W. Whitson, Senior Warden; S. B. Meek, Junior Warden and Bradley Bunch, Secretary. In addition to some names listed earlier on this account there is Austin Denney, J. F. Jackson, Thomas Jackson, William Jackson, J. H. Jones, S. S., J. J., and S. B. Meek, W. H. McKennon, A. C. Oliver, P. Packwood, W. H. Ross, J. S. Summers, J. S., J. D., William Walker, J. W. Whitson, J. T., G. W. and Thomas Wood and J. W. Freeman and J. C. Hanna are listed in the records of 1873.

In 1881 was a busy year. A new lodge was organized in Eureka Springs, Arkansas. Some Jacksons and several Walkers demitted from Ashley Lodge No. 66.

Much degree work was done in Ashley Lodge and despite its loss of members to Basin Lodge No. 386, Ashley Lodge had a net gain.

In 1894, Charlie Doss was elected to membership in Ashley Lodge.

Records for 1895 are barely legible but S. J.

Morris and W. M. Wilton were made Masons.

B. O. George joined the lodge during its Golden Jubilee in 1903.

The decline of Carrollton was made final by the railroad. Rather than surrender its old charter, Yell Lodge No. 64 merged with the newly formed lodge in Green Forest. The two became Yell Lodge No. 64.

Osage Lodge No. 219, which in 1871 had listed twenty-seven members on a brave beginning, finally surrendered following an altercation between some politically inclined members. Among its members were William Boatright, Amos G. Kendall, William Rudd, Benjamin Tate, Alfred S. Webb, W. C. Bunch and William Walker. With a few exceptions these men took their memberships to Green Forest.

Arkansas was growing. Transportation was improving. Some of the early Masons had widespread interests in the area. B. H. Berry is supposed to have aided in founding two other lodges including Odion Lodge in Huntsville. Neither lodge survived.

When the town of Berryville celebrated its Centennial in 1950, Ashley Lodge had a membership of 110. There were 7 petitions, 5 were elected and 4 completed the work. In 1950 A. J. Clark was Worshipful Master; Oscar Baker was Senior Warden. Leland Marlin served as Junior Warden and M. J. Timm was secretary.

Around the turn of the century two Carroll county lodges applied for the continuing degrees of the York Rite. In Berryville and Eureka Springs a Master Mason could eventually become a Knight Templar. In Green Forest, the Royal Arch degrees were available. The Cryptic Rite, being voluntary in the York Rite, hardly got off the ground. Records differ, but it appears that Berryville and Eureka Springs gave up their Commadries in the early 1920's. By 1936, only Berryville had a Royal Arch Chapter and most of its members were from Eureka Springs.

Today Chapter 86 R. A. M. has its home in Eureka Springs.

Green Forest and Eureka Springs have new lodge halls. In Eureka Springs and in Green Forest much of the labor on the new buildings was volunteered.

Among prominent Masons in Carroll county, were Baker Clark, deceased; Berryville, and Ray Anderson, Green Forest. Clark served as Grand Lecturer for Arkansas for many years. Anderson was instrumental in organizing the well-known degree team of Yell Lodge No. 64, and is probably the oldest living Mason in terms of years of service.

(Materials for most of this article were borrowed from D. Eugene Smith in 1950 and a stack of old correspondence in the desk of Ashley Lodge No. 66).

Fifty-three years ago, the Editor of the Carroll County Historical Quarterly was made a Blue Lodge Mason along with the late Dr. J. H. Bohannon, Folk Coger and Frankie Hilburn.

On April 1, 1977, Ashley Lodge had the distinction of having ten 50-year members who are listed as follows:

Luther Owens, O. C. Lilledahl, Joe Poynor, Klute Braswell, Ozie R. Rader, Frank Hilburn, Raphu Allred, Edwin McClelland, Russell Gates and Bryan Havens.

Recalling our first introduction to Masonry, I was accepted as a candidate for the three degrees at a meeting held in the old lodge hall then located over the Check Whiteley Restaurant on the North side of the Public Square.

At that time I wondered why Scott Grim, Worshipful Master, wore his hat during the meeting.

Other officers as I recall were Clint B. Smith, Dr. J. B. Brown and Jeff Beal. My lecturers were Jeff Beal and Alfred Baxter.

It took a lot of time to memorize the degrees, however, we finally made it.

I was raised to the degree of a Master Mason in the old Lodge Hall over Harrison Smith's Grocery and Feed Store, now the Berryville Drug building, along with Frank Hilburn, Dr. Bohannon and Folk Coger.

We were placed in the center of the hall, seated side by side where we were examined orally to determine if we had successfully memorized the work. These degrees do not appear in manual form and are passed down from word of mouth from a Mason to the candidate.

The Eureka Springs Degree team, of which the late S. A. Diehl, Eureka Springs publisher, was a member, conducted the ceremonies, which made a lasting impression on me.

NEWS FROM A 71-YEAR-OLD
BERRYVILLE NEWSPAPER

The ritual was impressive as mentioned above and only once were we reminded of the stories of the uninformed that a candidate had to "ride the goat."

There was no comparison between the induction into Masonry with that of the MWA Lodge's ceremony which was of a fun-making nature making a candidate feel a little silly when the MWA induction was over.

We have found no information on why the Berryville Masonic Lodge was named Ashley Lodge other than perhaps for some individual or for Ashley Post Office, a community located northwest of Berryville on Kings River. The Ashley Post Office was established March 7, 1846 and discontinued May 7, 1852 when the Berryville Post Office was established. Ashley Lodge's first Worshipful Master, Blackburn H. Berry was Postmaster at Ashley in October of 1849, a year before he had the town of Berryville surveyed and the streets laid out.

In closing this article it might be mentioned that "Mother Hubbert", Mrs. B. F. Hailey, who operated the Hubbert Hotel in Berryville, was credited with saving Ashley Lodge's Charter and other paraphernalia during the Civil War.

These items were hidden in an upstairs room of her Tavern when invading forces burned the town. The Tavern was the only building left standing outside of a small residence located in the east part of town.

Basin Spring Lodge No. 386 was instituted November 23, 1881, with E. T. Walker, WM; H. H. Moose, SW; H. Glitsch, JW; with a membership of 60.

An effort was made to include a more complete article on Eureka Springs Masonic bodies however, our inquiry for this information went unanswered.

FORMER BERRYVILLE MAN ENJOYS HISTORICAL QUARTERLY

"Inclosed is my $10.00 check to pay for a couple more years of membership in The Society.

"I was born in Berryville in 1898, and tho my family moved to Oklahoma in 1909, I have many fond memories of my childhood spent climbing Goat Knob and Brush Mountain and tramping through the woods, wading in the spring-fed streams and swimming in the Osage River at Bunches Ford.

"I enjoy the quarterly magazine very much as I am related to many that are mentioned in it. The last one showed a picture of my Dad along with Elmer Jones and J D Hailey in the Carroll Progress office, also listed the marriage licences of my parents, J. M. Meek and Belle Jeffries. All four of my grandparents were living in Berryville when I was born, and are buried in the cemetery west of town.

"Arlis H. Meek, 2709 South Klein, Oklahoma City, Okla. 73109

The Carroll County Historical Society is in need of material for feature articles for forthcoming issues of the quarterly.

We would appreciate any reliable information on settlement of some of our earlier communities or incidents relating to pioneer families who settled in the original Carroll County.

FRANCES MARION YOUNGBLOOD

Francis Marion Youngblood. There is something essentially American in the life and character of the gentleman who is the subject of this sketch. The United States has given rare opportunities to men with courage, honesty of purpose, integrity and energy to secure success. Francis Marion Youngblood has all the above characteristics, and his success as an agriculturist and citizen has come as his devotion to right and his tenacity of purpose. Mr. Youngblood was born in DeKalf County, Mo. about 1838, son of Ambrose and Martha (Fanning) Youngblood, who resided for many years in Tennessee. From that State they moved to Illinois, and thence to northwest Missouri. When our subject was about six years old the parents came to Carroll (now Boone) County, and settled on Long Creek, where the father improved a good farm, and where he passed the remainder of his days, dying about 1882. His wife died in the same county a few years before. Mr. Youngblood was considerable of a hunter, and one of his reasons for settling in this section was on account of the game. The grandfather, James Youngblood, was probably a Revolutionary soldier, but very little is known of him. The children born to Mr. and Mrs. Youngblood were named as follows: Nancy, wife of John Sharp, of Kansas; Jeremiah McClinton, a soldier in the Federal Army, now resides in Missouri; James resides in Boone County; William, a soldier in the Federal Army, makes his home in Carroll County; and Francis M., our subject. The latter received but little schooling in his youth, only a few months each year, for he had several miles to walk and most of his time was spent in assisting on the home place. In the year 1861 he was married to Miss Elizabeth Hulsey, who was born in _____, and who was the daughter of Hiram and Nancy Hulsey, early settlers of Boone County. Ten children were the fruits of this union; William Riley; Mary, wife of John Thomas Philips, of Colorado; T. S., a graduate of Marion Medical College, St. Louis, and is now a prominent physician of Adair, I. T.; Carrie, wife of Andrew Hayhurst of Carroll County; James; Martha Delaney, wife of William Vowel; Cordelia; Mac, Noah, of Indian Territory; Ida and Hattie. Since a boy our subject has made his home on Long Creek, near Shaver Postoffice, where he has one of the best farms to be found. He had 390 acres, the old farm owned by his father, and has always followed farming and stockraising, being one of the best known men in his part of the county. In the month of July, 1862, he enlisted in Company K, First Arkansas Cavalry, Federal Army, at Springfield, Mo.

and operated in Missouri and Arkansas. He was captured in Carroll County in the fall of 1862, but was released after about a month, and was mustered out at Fayetteville, Ark., in February, 1864. After the war he resumed farming and has followed it ever since. He and wife have been members of the Christian Church for many years, and he has been a Republican since he first commenced voting.

Daughter of Charles and Elizabeth Hutcheson

Sarah H. Hutcheson (August 7, 1820 - April 1, 1863) was buried in Little York, Missouri, northwest of Brookline. After T. B.'s death, her son had her body moved to Evergreen Cemetery by T. B. Her husband's grave is just in front of the gate to the left with a tall mahogany stone. Just southwest of T. B.'s stone is their son, Jerry.

Sarah married Theodrick Birgit Youngblood (October 28, 1814 - February 1879). Theodrick was a captain of Co. K., 1st Arkansas Cavalry Volunteers. I have a roster of 76 men. Some of these men had their first haircut in Springfield, Mo.

Sarah was a beautiful woman and she and Theodrick lived together for 23 years, four months and 14 days. He was called home from the army due to her illness. When she died April 1, 1863, he asked Mahala Skelton to marry him and care for his children. They married April 23, 1863, and Mahala died May 4, 1863 of the same disease. Then he asked Malinda Herrington May 14, 1863 to marry him, and then left immediately for the army. JAMES P. YOUNGBLOOD from The Past and Present of Green County, Mo.
Vol. I, pp 747-749. Fairbanks and Tuck.

It is at all times very interesting to compile and preserve the experiences of the old soldiers who went out to fight the country's battles during the slave-holders' rebellion fifty years ago. These gallant old fellows are fast passing away and we should get all their experiences first hand before it is too late, for it is not only interesting but important that we preserve these personal experiences, for, after all, those are the events that make history. What would history be worth were it not for the vivid actions of the individuals? That is all there is to the splendid histories of ancient and modern times. The story as told by one who has passed through the bloody experiences of a half century ago of several years of stubborn struggle and was in numerous engagements, marches and campaigns, and perhaps prisons and hospitals, is far more interesting than if narrated long hence by some writer who may distort events out of their true historic significance. One of the veterans of that great conflict whose military career would, if set forth in detail, make a fair sized volume of interesting narrative is James P. Youngblood, for many years a farmer in the western part of Greene County, who is now living in retirement in Springfield.

Mr. Youngblood was born in Fayetteville, Ark., Aug 30, 1844. He is a son of Theodric B. and Sarah (Hutchinson) Youngblood, the father a native of Alabama and the mother of Tennessee, and they were married in Mississippi. They subsequently moved to northwestern Arkansas, and were living near Carrollton when the Civil War broke out, and there the father of our subject raised a company of one hundred and twenty men. The company met at Long Creek on the morning of July 14, 1862, and organized, electing Theodric B. Youngblood captain. They camped the first night on White River. Some of the members of the company had killed a deer which they dressed and ate. Some of the Union people living there reported them to the Federal authorities as a gang of rebels, and the following day they started to Galena, Mo., and while crossing a hill near the place they observed a woman mount a horse and hasten away for the purpose of again notifying the Federals, but a girl who lived in the neighborhood, being friendly to the company went to the Federals, telling them that the visitors were Unionists instead of secessionists; however, the Federals came upon the company, which had stacked arms and the leader of the Federals addressed the company, commending it for the bravery it had shown. The purpose of the organization was to become a company of the First Arkansas Volunteer Union Cavalry, which it was understood was organizing, and the company desired to enlist in the same under Col. Harrison. The company was accepted, Mr. Youngblood continuing captain. During the latter part of the war the company was detailed to hold Bentonville, Arkansas, properly guarding mail carriers. The subject of this sketch was sent there with a lieutenant to receive the Confederates who desired to surrender and remained there two weeks, when the lieutenant received orders to report to Colonel Harrison at Fayetteville, and Mr. Youngblood was left in charge at Bentonville, by which town many of the secessionists came on their way back home and about one hundred surrendered to him, giving up their arms and taking their parole papers. Our subject was seventeen years old when he enlisted in Company K, First Arkansas Union Cavalry.

The vice president of the company died and before his body was cold, a young ambitious clerk hastily went to the boss and asked, "Do you think I could take his place?" The boss said, "I suppose you could but you will have to see the undertaker about that."

In this time of easy divorces it has been suggested that we discontinue the use of roses at weddings and use bindweed.

NEWSPAPER REPORTS ON HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETINGS FOR MARCH AND APRIL

The Carroll County Historical Society held its monthly meeting the evening of March 24th in Heritage Center located on the third floor of the old 1880 Carroll County Courthouse on the west side of the public square in Berryville. W. B. Cain showed slides of his recent trip to Europe. About fifty persons were in attendance. Sassafras tea was served by Roxie and Billy Phillips. Coy Logan, president of the society, was in charge. He presented a request from the University of Arkansas at Little Rock requesting biographical information on ten local women for a book to be written entitled Remarkable Women of Arkansas.

Ray Conley of Eureka Springs reported on the work he is doing of cataloging the cemeteries and burial places in Carroll County. His studies will be used in the burial records being established in Heritage Center. Community and family cemeteries are being indexed. Mary Sue Summers, local genealogist, is helping with these files.

Roxie Phillips presented at the meeting a list of recent burials in the Gobbler Cemetery. Peggy Houston recently presented Heritage Center with a list of those buried in the Rockhouse Cemetery. Don Bradshaw of Moore is getting a list of names of those buried in the Moore Cemetery.

Since the last meeting of the Society new displays have been arranged in Heritage Center by O. Klute Braswell, curator.

Mrs. Nat Johnson has assigned to the museum six old, hand-pieced and hand-quilted quilts of various designs and patterns. Among other things she has recently assigned to the museum are a jackknife collection and a bottle collection.

Her collection of over fifty ancient utensils that were at one time used in pioneer kitchens of Arkansas is now displayed on an upright pegboard in the museum. Visitors enjoy trying to identify the purposes for which the utensils were designed.

An Arkansas state flag and a United States flag, each measuring about 18" x 12", and a carved wood gavel were presented in the name of the Berryville Garden Club, now disbanded. The flags were presented to the club by the late F. A. Teague, Representative of Carroll County.

Mrs. Ruth Trimble, widow of James Trimble, presented a cross cut saw which was once used by her father, Judge Joseph Maples. She also presented a waffle iron that was once used by her grandmother, Sarah McQuown. Suitable to be used on both wood and coal stoves, the grandmother brought it with her when she moved into Carroll County from Texas. Judge Maples was one time the circuit judge of this circuit district and held many sessions of court in the court room that is now part of Heritage Center.

Carl Stamps donated a tie clip that features "The Derby" riders. It has unique and detailed designing.

Ocoma plant donated a Monroe calculator which was part of the original equipment in their Berryville office when the plant began operation here more than twenty-five years ago. The machine was brought from the main office in Omaha, Neb.

Kenneth Thomas, Memphis, Tennessee, donated two grist mill buhrs, each about 17" in diameter, that were hand made by his great grandfather for a Carroll County mill.

Gerald Spitze, editor of the Star-Progress, presented twelve bound volumes of that publication to the library of Heritage Center. A complete file of the publication is now available for research.

Joe Lee Martin presented sixteen volumes of the Tellers Records of the old Peoples State Bank, which was established in Berryville about 1901 and was closed in 1937.

A treasured addition to the library are copies of the three books written by Fred High, local folk writer, "Forty-three Years for Uncle Sam", "It Happened in the Ozarks", and "Old, Old Folk Songs". These were donated by Marvon and Jean High. Marvon is the grandson of Fred High.

Peggy Houston presented the library a book "Story of Arkansas" by Hazel Presson, and a large advertisement sheet of testimonies on "how to get rid of rheumatism by mild, gentle, home remedy".

Mary Carter presented two years of National Geographic to the library. These will be used to help complete the collection of National Geographic being assembled in Heritage Center.

Larry Callen of Oak Grove, who is writing a paper on the Schools of Green Forest did part of his research in Heritage Center and also interviewed Mr. Braswell. A copy of his research paper will be placed in the research library.

William L. McCracken of Michigan, who is a member of the Carroll County Society, expects to donate soon to the museum a wedding dress and wedding suit that were used in Carroll County about one hundred years ago.

Mrs. Rayburn, widow of Otto Ernest Rayburn, prominent Ozark writer, recently visited Heritage Center, and expressed appreciation for the manner in which Carroll County citizens are preserving their history.

Green Thumb men have recently worked in both the library and the museum of Heritage Center.

On a table in the museum is a display of "Whatsits" - items that have not been identified by present visitors. Old-timers and students of history can assist the Historical Society by identifying these items.

Membership in the Historical Society is increasing. Local persons, and persons who have once lived in this county, find the society's publication is an ideal way to preserve history for the next generation. One years membership, which is $5.00, entitles the members to four quarterlies. Individual copies are also available at Heritage Center. Phone 423-6312.

Genealogy files which are being compiled on families of the county are being used for research.

About 30 persons attended the monthly meeting of the Carroll

County Historical Society held last Thursday evening in Heritage Center in the old 1880 courthouse in Berryville. Mrs. Marie Gordon spoke on "Dolls, Fashion, and History". She used 25 of her doll collection, some of them quite large, and several of them over a hundred years old. The first doll displayed represented the late part of the 16th century when women wore elaborate hair styles. This doll carried a scratching stick used in combating vermin that infested such hair styles. Dolls were dressed in detail, Mrs. Gordon making the clothing and accessories. She is donating a collection of dolls to the museum. Herbert West took photographs of the display.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis J. Gordon, 423-6255, moved to Berryville only a few months ago from Independence, Mo. Mr. Gordon has a large barbed wire collection about which he gives talks to groups.

Coy Logan, president of the society, was in charge of the meeting. He presented to the museum a "laying-off" or single-stock plow, 2 key-books used in teaching arithmetic, a man's tie once used to advertise the Carroll County Fair, and a narrow dark tie.

During the month of April persons from 14 states visited Heritage Center. O. Klute Braswell, curator, gave slide-illustrated talks to three groups, and two local schoolrooms visited the museum.

Henry Clyde Newton, prominent California artist, and son of Donnie (Fultz) Newton, presented the museum four of his original pen and ink drawings made after a trip to Carroll County. These drawings, now on display, are titled: German House, Old Store at Osage, Poynor House at Osage, and Low-water Bridge Across Osage River Following the Spring Flood.

Ray Conley, Eureka Springs, has made name lists of more Carroll County cemeteries.

If any person having information about a Civil War soldier will report it to Heritage Center, 423-6312, it will be recorded in the files.

EUREKA SPRINGS—Fire which originated in the roof of the Thach hotel, an old structure of frame construction, destroyed the hotel, the First Christian Church, the Newport flats and the Rice cottage, and damaged two other houses, here Monday afternoon. The loss was estimated at $50,000.

Swept by a high wind, the fire threatened the entire south section of the resort city, and firemen of Eureka Springs, augmented by firemen from three neighboring towns, finally subdued the flames after a battle lasting more than two hours.

Fire Chief Sam Riley, who heads the volunteer department here, announced at 4 o'clock that the fire was under control. The fire started in the hotel on the crest of West Mountain about 1 p.m.
